

AGENDA 21

An overview by

Karen Sweetland
February 22, 2012

What is Agenda 21? It is a United Nation's program presented and approved in Rio in 1992. At that time American conservatives laughed it off as crazy and impossible and unable to happen here in the USA. Well, it is happening. It is happening here and it is happening now. Agenda 21 is a totalitarian comprehensive environmental program that, when fully implemented, will direct where you live, how much water and utilities you can use, and how, when and where you can travel, among many other imposed limitations.

Agenda 21 is being marketed as a worldwide effort to ensure that all human beings will have access to adequate housing, health care, water and food. Of course, what is not being mentioned is that this "parity" will require a massive redistribution of wealth from prosperous countries to poorer countries. Predictably, capitalistic countries, like the United States, will of necessity suffer seriously lowered standards of living.

Presidents George H. Bush, Bill Clinton, and Barack Obama, through Executive Orders, have signed onto Agenda 21. Hundreds more governors, mayors, and county commissioners have also signed on. There presently are over 600 cities, counties and states in America signed on to Agenda 21.

Agenda 21 and related programs will eliminate many things we hold dear. These have been declared "unsustainable" and will be abolished. The following is a partial list of life in America under imminent threat:

1. All private property rights (ownership) [no one will be allowed to own land, houses or other property]
2. All forms of irrigation, pesticides & commercial fertilizer
3. Livestock production and most meat consumption [lab produced 'meat' is currently in development in Europe derived from stem cells].
4. Privately owned vehicles and personal travel [no individually owned autos, no travel without prior authorization]
5. Use of fossil fuels for power generation or mechanized travel
6. Single family homes [everyone will have to live in stacked boxes - hi-rise condos called 'sustainable communities' – multi-use high rises in each city – most of which already have them and are building more]
7. Most forms of mineral extraction and timber harvesting

8. Human population must be reduced to fewer than 1 billion people
[The current 6 billion population to be reduced i.e. the world must be DEPOPULATED! – one can only wonder just how the powers behind this desired outcome plan to decrease the population by 5/6th] – Obamacare factors into the US depopulation, from denial of treatment, birth control and abortions.

This is not coming from Washington D.C. or state legislatures for the most part. It is seeping in through local city and county governments. Agenda 21 brings with it stealth code words, suggesting comfort and security, such as “smart growth,” “social justice,” “bio-diversity,” and “sustained development.” You will hear them often and find them in abundance in most actions and planning documents of city/town governments. These terms are the mainstay of the marketing of Agenda 21.

Translated these terms effectively mean total environmental dictatorship and the elevation of the pagan practice of the worship of Mother Earth. And those promoting Agenda 21 are deadly serious about their mission.

179 countries, including the United States, initially signed on to the Agenda in 1992. Many more have joined since then. Check out your own state/city – chances are that it is already firmly entrenched in Agenda 21. (see: <http://www.iclei.org/index.php?id=11454>)

The ICLEI is the governing body under the United Nations – and the above link lists ALL participating countries and cities therein – you will be shocked to see the LONG list of US cities – shocking in its enormity and implications.

Agenda 21 is designed to control every aspect of human life on every square inch of planet earth. As a biblical worldview dims around the globe, man sinks to the bottom of the food chain.

If Agenda 21 succeeds (and it is) animals will become more important than man, as will plants and trees. We can already see ample evidence of this process in motion today. Agenda 21’s real message is: “Man is the problem. Nature must be preserved and take precedence at all costs. Mother Earth must not be scratched.”

David Chilton, in his insightful book Paradise Restored, presents an important historical dynamic. Chilton submits that man, ever since he was expelled from Eden, has tried to get back in. Each time he tries, he creates another hell on earth. Agenda 21 will be no different, but the impact far worse than prior historical examples.

Many socialistic, communistic, liberal organizations and international leaders are behind Agenda 21 and its related programs, most notably Bilderberg. (note: If you are not familiar with Bilderberg, it is urgent that you get familiar) It will take dedication of time and effort on our part to truly understand all the implications of this pervasive program. The investment of said time and effort will be worth it – equal to our basic survival.

These are not legal or dictionary definitions, but short explanations used to describe words as they are used within the Agenda 21 context.

Bill of Rights: US Constitutional rights that reflect natural law, deemed unalienable- we are born with these rights, they cannot be taken away. Conversely, Human Rights are granted to people under the Declaration of Human Rights. Under this system the government can take these rights away to advance a centrally determined "common good".

Biodiversity: The dictionary defines it as a variety of plants and animals in their native environments/habitats. The term is used by globalists to promote fear around extinction of species so that they can activate the Endangered Species Act which has yet to have a single success! It is used as a weapon to abolish private property. (prime example is the destruction of the Imperial Valley in California, where water was turned off to the farmlands and ranches, turning the entire area into a dustbowl, with massive loss of jobs, land, wealth – in favor of a tiny fish in the River Delta deemed endangered)

Collectivism: Political philosophy where a small group determines the "greater good" for the masses. While it could take the form of communism, fascism, socialism, etc, the common denominator is control over the population. Note: The UN and Bilderberg work in concert to achieve ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT – a goal long sought since early on in the 20th century.

Commerce Clause: The Constitution provides that the federal government has power over commerce between states, but this power has been distorted and expanded beyond its original intention. The federal government has distorted this provision as an excuse to regulate resources, businesses and most everything else.

Consensus: Facilitators use the consensus process to reach a predetermined outcome. Minority positions are ignored in consensus. Consensus is also used in education where more value is placed on reaching consensus than considering objective data. Investigation of current text books and teaching plans will show a massive change in the content of books and teaching methods – gearing today's kids to expect AND accept the new world order, and believing that America is evil; and that our inherent evil is responsible for most of the world's problems, including wars.

Corridors: Areas targeted for control. This word applies to strips of land that interconnect with Wild-lands, where human presence and resource extraction are not allowed. This word is also used in relation to transportation routes and power grids. (see northwest examples below)

Councils: These organizations, comprised of "insiders and stakeholders," are being used to usurp the power of local governments.

Democracy: Mob rule, or majority rule. We live in a Republic that is rooted in protecting individuals' rights. Imagine a lynch mob (the majority) wanted to hang you (the individual). Democracy strikingly contrasts with the American system, intended to operate as a Republic, with limited government powers and with the protection of individuals' Unalienable Rights through a system of due process.

Endangered Species Act: This Act is based on a United Nations model and implemented through international treaties. It is a tool collectivists use to take over land and resources in pursuit of the abolition of private property. Note: NUMEROUS cases exist in the U.S. where land has been declared off limits for human use and enjoyment – often from expanding the boundaries around national parks and forests, rivers and lakes etc.

Enumerated Powers: Power given to the congress in Article 1, Section 8 of the Constitution; that is further limited by the Bill of Rights.

Equal Justice: A respect for independence and unalienable rights of the individual and general tolerance for individuality. Equal justice puts a checkmate on mob rule.

Fabianism: Constant, slow change in government. i.e. Incrementalism.

Facilitators: Paid workers who use peer pressure and psychological manipulation to obtain consensus. (Perfect example is a training manual produced by the APA *American Planning Assn)

Forfeiture: A means by which the government can take your personal property.

Gaia: Pagan religion of nature-worship honoring Mother Earth. Today, Gaia represents a philosophy that places nature above humans consistent with the Action Plan of Agenda 21. Agenda 21 is designed and used as a means to an end (i.e. depopulation and slavery). The Gaia philosophy is predicated on a "higher purpose" - to save nature at all costs.

Governance: To rule, control and manipulate America, based on the principals of a government of protection. G. Edward Griffin suggests we should not even use the word government, but a Protectorate instead.

Green: While we are all dependent upon and concerned about the environment, the environment has been elevated to a status above humans, under the banner of "green".

Gerrymander: Division of geographic areas to give special advantages to certain groups; it is a mechanism to adjust Congressional boundaries to meet the ruling political parties' objectives. Illegal immigration is a symptom of this type of social and political engineering, often occurring prior to every election season.

Human Rights: Those rights granted by men and capable of being withdrawn by men, as outlined in the U.N.'s Universal Declaration of Human Rights. (Article 29 "These rights and freedoms may in no case be exercised contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations." This means 'Human Rights' can be taken away).

ICLEI: The International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives (also called Local Governments for Sustainability) is a U.N. accredited Non Governmental Organization (NGO). It implements the UN Action Plan of Agenda 21 Sustainable Development. Cities pay dues in order to obtain direction from ICLEI in establishing local policy and law. It is a violation of Article 1, Section 10 of the U.S. Constitution which prohibits States and their subdivisions from entering into alliances with foreign operatives. ICLEI is also offering 'grants' to lure communities and states into implementing one of many of their 'sustainable' programs.

Insiders: A person in power who has access to confidential information and influences decisions, unbeknownst to the vast majority of citizens.

Individualism: The philosophy that the interests of the individual are, or ought to be, paramount. Collectivism is its opposite. Individualism is seriously threatened under A21.

Inalienable Rights: Rights that are granted by the government. What is given can also be taken away. The U.N.'s Declaration of Human Rights is a system of inalienable rights.

Unalienable Rights: Rights that we are born with. They may not be taken away by government. "That all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights." This political recognition is why the Declaration of Independence is regarded as humanity's greatest achievement.

NGO's: Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) are accredited by the U.N. for purposes of implementing Agenda 21. They are well funded by governments, tax free foundations, corporations and individuals.

Outcome-Based Education: Method of teaching wherein the student must be able to perform according to prescribed standards, yet real knowledge and critical thinking are discounted if not all-together ignored. Generally the standards are lowered to the lowest common denominator; hence more than 50% of students suffer from lack of adequate education. THIS IS NO ACCIDENT.

Public- Private Partnerships (PPP): Corporations or other private entities like foundations, NGO's, associations, etc. pair with government to enforce rules and policies that benefit the money partner (corporation) or to achieve government objectives. Public-Private Partnership is the re-invention of Mussolini's system of economic fascism.

Private Property: Private property is the relationship between a person and something wherein the owner determines the use and enjoyment of the thing. Private property includes land, personal possessions and intellectual property. Private property also includes one's own person, body and mind, which is why the protection of property rights is so important. All such rights are actively threatened at the present.

Land ownership is the primary source of human freedom and potential for wealth! And serves as the basis of the American Dream – growing ever more extinct!

Quality of Life: This phrase is frequently used in propaganda and official documents to sugar coat the underlying policies and intentions of Agenda 21, and is evident in most of the marketing materials supporting A21.

Regions: Political regions are established in order to replace existing political boundaries thus destroying the power of local governments. A water control agency would be an example of this. Regionalizing resources to remove power from local authorities is the way Russia was Sovietized.

Republic: A system of government that operates by rule of law and exists to protect individual rights. The Republic of the United States has a democratically elected representative government, but this does not make it a democracy.

Smart Growth: Herding people into cities and off rural land, for the unstated purpose of controlling human action. Building up (high-rises), not out, and mixed-use buildings with stores on the ground floor with living spaces above – all that exist within a walk-able community. The objective is for people to stay within a small area in order to be easily controlled while the animals roam freely everywhere else. Such small area to consist of work, recreation, living, shopping, cultural needs, with the implied intent that people have no need to leave their 'area.'

Stakeholders: A person entrusted with the stakes of a specific entity. Stakeholders are often ill-defined groups that have influence, and are referenced in many documents pertaining to corporations, organizations, and of course A21. Stakeholders in this new political context are those who combine efforts to drive a stake into the heart of private property.

Sustainable Development: The U.N. document called Agenda 21 lays the groundwork for advancing Sustainable Development. This is a euphemism for depopulation and control. The basis of the design is the "Three E' program: "Equity"- using sociology and the law to create a global system of governance; "Economy"- redistribution of wealth between nations and converting from free enterprise to Public- Private Partnership; and "Environment"- meaning nature above man.

Tenth Amendment: This is the key to undoing the tentacles of Agenda 21- the recognition of States' rights and State sovereignty: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, not prohibited to it by the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Wildlands: The counterpart to Smart Growth, it is designed to remove people from the land, using the excuse of "sustaining" wildlife; the plan is to remove people and eliminate resource extraction from over 50% of America's landscape. AGENDA 21 - IT'S COMMUNITARIANISM

AND BEST YOU BEWARE NOW

I urge, URGE each person reading this to go to their local City Government or Council and start asking questions. You will likely find that your community is heavily into Agenda 21 - and you need to know and understand just how you and your community are now at risk.

UN Local Agenda 21 - The Smoking Cannon

More and more people are talking and writing about the global government these days. So many more people are actually exposing the global government's matrix. The Big Plan for a co-called global Utopia is finally coming out into the open, because people are asking the right questions. And yet, far too few people have heard of Agenda 21, and still fewer have any real understanding of what A21 is about or what it bodes for this nation and the rest of the world.

I'm not referring to a secret plan handed out at the Bilderberg or Club of Rome, although evidence shows these and other elite groups participated in the creation of the NWO. I'm not talking about Biblical prophecy, and I'm not talking about Luciferian Enlightenment or the secret British-Masonic-Zionist plan to make a better world, although some communitarian teachers do admit they worship at the altar of Satan.

I am talking about the published plan to build a One World Bureaucracy. It's the blueprint for Sustainable Development handed out at the Rio Earth Summit in 1992. It does exist and it's completely verifiable, as more and more people will now admit. They have no choice. Yet, sufficient buzz and controversy about A21 exists to prompt the APA and ICLEI to wage a propaganda campaign to battle against opponents of A21.

United Nations Local Agenda 21 Programme for Sustainable Development is the "smoking gun" for the New World Order. Adopted by all member nations in 1992, this is the model and basis for creating a communitarian world. If you're like a lot of people who sense something is very wrong, if you're looking for concrete, irrefutable evidence for the New World Order in your neighborhood, nothing comes close to asking your local officials about Local Agenda 21 (LA21).

While many LA21 plans and their affiliate agencies are available online, the most efficient and valuable way to determine the extent of LA21 in your area is to ask local officials. Exercise your authentic power. Call or stop by your local City Hall. Meet face-to-face with your elected public officials. Ask to review all local planning actions that come under UN guidelines for Sustainable Development (SD). Ask to review any local agreements with ICLEI. And look at records over the last 10-15 years.

The existence of a master plan for global government can almost be verified in one call to your City or County Clerk. Asking whether there has been anything locally adopted or resolved that promotes Sustainable Development is not a hard question anymore - most have heard this new term by now. Most people think it's a good thing because they believe it is an organic development and as such, has a huge following. Everything is going "sustainable" now -- from agriculture to industry, lifestyles to education, the whole world is promoting sustainability.

So, if every body's doing it, it must be a good thing, right? What's the big deal?

Well, first of all, if sustainability was really a benign way of healing the planet from corporate poisoning, it would not need or include so many laws that govern ordinary people's lives. SD is a set of global community laws that supplant individual liberty, formally maintained within national, state and local property and privacy laws.

Secondly, communitarian laws always "balance" the rights of the individual with those of the community. In reality SD only protects the global community government from the common man. Every nation in the world is experiencing a "wrenching transformation" of national laws into compliance with international SD law. LA21 could also be called the "No Nation Left Behind" movement.

American homeowners are mostly clueless as to why so much of the Stimulus Package was directed into upgrades that allow the government to monitor and control them inside their homes.

Think you know what your nation stands for? Still believe that SD is a local solution written by local residents for a local purpose? Pick up a phone right now and call your City Clerk. Ask to review and copy anything having to do with U.N. Local Agenda 21 or Sustainable Development.

Because there are so many local programs implementing global SD, you will probably be told your request is "too broad." So, narrow your focus; get specific. Ask your public servant (who works for you) which city and county agencies have already adopted Sustainable Development. After the usual "Why do you need this information?" say "all of them." If there's any lingering doubt about how prevalent SD is in your home town, copy and read every local agency's Mission Statement. You will have no lingering doubts.

How do you tie Sustainable Development to the United Nations if your local government claims their Sustainable Development has no connection to U.N. Local Agenda 21? Ask them to give you a clear and legal definition for Sustainable Development. They have little option but to waffle or cite the 1987 United Nations Bruntland Commission's "official" definition for Sustainable Development. SEE:

<http://www.un.org/News/Press/docs/2009/envdev1026.doc.htm>.

And, since all U.S. constitutional law is based in private property rights, any plan to abolish private property is treason, pure and simple. And they know it.

How much can you find out about how far down the LA21 road your neighborhood has gone? This could be a real adventure if you took it on. Nothing incites the senses like following the path of your enemies in your own backyard. This is a global war. The real fight is over our land, our people and all our resources. It's being fought every day on all our home fronts, from Florida to Alaska, New York to Oregon.

There are several other key terms to look for: livability, quality of life, common good, vision for the future, community values, to name just a few. When Americans find unfamiliar (new) terms used in any U.S. government document, because of our Federal (F.O.I.A. – Freedom of Information Act) and State Public Disclosure laws, we can request a clear, legal definition of the word or phrase. We can read and copy every government agent's documents related to the use of the term too, from hand scribbled notes to polished propaganda. This is what real transparency in government means. Many other Western nations have similar laws.

The U.N. does not want to show Americans and the rest of the world the extent of their new global laws, global-to-local development plans, and all the local partnerships with global associations (and funding). Governments may be openly revising their national constitutions in South America and the EU under supremacy of communitarian law, but in most Western free and open "democracies," LA21 plans are guarded and anything but open.

For those who need to know more, Sustainable Development is based in communitarianism (see above and below definitions). This philosophy drives every aspect of the emerging supra-national system. If you understand the theory, you'll better understand the new tactics. Once you've verified for yourself that LA21 plans exist in your area, do a little Internet search for the term "communitarianism." The results will cause you great angst.

Communitarianism

A political and social philosophy that emphasizes the importance of community in the functioning of political life, in the analysis and evaluation of political institutions, and in understanding human identity and well-being. It was developed in the 1980s and 1990s in explicit opposition to the theoretical liberalism of thinkers such as John Rawls. According to communitarians, liberalism relies on a conception of the individual that is unrealistically atomistic and abstract; it also places too much importance on individual values such as freedom and autonomy. See also collectivism.

“Land...cannot be treated as an ordinary asset, controlled by individuals and subject to the pressures and inefficiencies of the market. Private land ownership is also a principal instrument of accumulation and concentration of wealth, therefore contributes to social injustice.” From the report from the 1976 UN’s Habitat I Conference.

What is not sustainable?

Ski runs, grazing of livestock, plowing of soil, building fences, industry, single family homes, paved and tarred roads, logging activities, dams and reservoirs, power line construction, and economic systems that fail to set proper value on the environment.” FROM: UN’s Biodiversity Assessment Report.

Hide Agenda 21’s UN roots from the people

“Participating in a UN advocated planning process would very likely bring out many of the conspiracy- fixated groups and individuals in our society... This segment of our society who fear ‘one-world government’ and a UN invasion of the United States through which our individual freedom would be stripped away would actively work to defeat any elected official who joined ‘the conspiracy’ by undertaking LA21. So we call our process something else, such as comprehensive planning, growth management or smart growth.” J. Gary Lawrence, advisor to President Clinton’s Council on Sustainable Development.

Who is behind it? (start with Bilderberg and George Soros, then add in the U.N. and all those listed below)

ICLEI – Local Governments for Sustainability (formally, International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives). Communities pay ICLEI dues to provide “local” community plans, software, training, etc. Additional groups include American Planning Council (the same group that is now instituting the above referenced national training and propaganda program to overcome objections to A21 – a well funded, sophisticated manual to train people around the U.S. to battle for and institute A21), The Renaissance Planning Group, International City/ County Management Group, aided by US Mayors Conference, National Governors Association, National League of Cities, National Association of County Administrators and many more private organizations and official government agencies. Foundation and government grants drive the process.

NOTE: Cities sign on to get grants - their greed and avarice overshadowing the massive strings attached, and the dire consequences to all communities. Money talks, and these people have plenty of money to throw at towns and cities across America and the world.

In my humble opinion, THIS is the greatest threat to this nation and it encroaches from within - at community levels - by pleasant sounding names that spell danger and destruction to the American way of life - and that means home ownership, business ownership, owning land and cattle, farming or personal gardens, living life as YOU choose - all GONE.

There can't be enough written about AGenda 21 or Project 60, not nearly enough and EVERY CANDIDATE for state or national office should be trained in and propel this issue to the forefront of their campaign messaging and platform.

Currently there is a big land grab in the works to expand the Olympic National park around the Quinault, Washington area as well as several other spots on the Olympic Peninsula. While in Oregon – its Bandon Marsh Wildlife Refuge; a wholesale trampling of individual rights focused on the Coquille River near Bandon!

There are several websites with information concerning crimes against hard working Americans – a $900 Million Dollar Agenda 21-ICLEI land grab.

You won't know it's happening until many people have had their homes stolen right out from under them. Then it will be far too late to alter the A21 course.

see: (Olympic National Park) attempt to buy up 210,000 acres . The website opposing all this is at <http://www.workingwildolympics.com/> and <http://www.muddyexp.com/index2.html> for more details.

If this is happening in a remote part of Washington it is happening in remote areas in other States as well. This is Agenda 21 on the rise – now.

I urge you to check out the U.N. maps for Agenda 21(see above links) – in reference to WA but also to each state. You will notice that there is very little land designated for human use in much of the West.
