Many of you have been asking - How did this happen to us?
I know the article is long but I also know you can read it because it is that important. If we do not address the real issue of our schools, we could clean out every legislative office and in 12 years we will have the same problem again. People who only learn communism, become communists. When communism is the only government choice taught is school, legislators and citizens become communists.

Once you read the article below you will find that this plan has been in the queue in America for a long time. Indoctrination MUST start in the schools in order to change the mindset of a society from freedom to slavery. communist believe they must indoctrinate as soon as possible, so they create cradle to grave education.

I attended the New School for Social Research. There I learned how to use Hollywood to promote our communist message and spread propoganda by looking for hidden meanings in movies and promoting the slogan and message all the time using doublespeak to call it something else...

We were taught to use and refer to those messages and slogans often. Hollywood is a major part of this movement. Today, I watch MS TV to see what the current message is. Watch some of the series on TV. Look for the secondary message. Then share this message with your more liberal friends, family, and community in the form of questions. Don't be the authority figure making bold statements, instead ask questions. Make them defend and support their position by asking a series of why questions. But before you start talking, define the words. One of my favorites is: Dirty oil...What part of oil is dirty? What does dirty oil mean?

School is the root of all our problems. Our schools teach communism. Choice is irrelevant, after all how many places do kids need to learn communism? Communism destroys God, family, morality, nationalism, respect, individuality, responsibility, ingenuity curiosity, logic, reason and critical thinking. Communism promotes government engineered crises, so uninformed subjects will give up freedom for security.

Their answer to everything is spend more money. After all how many legislators have families who own charter schools, programs, data management or get donations from school related industries. FOLLOW THE MONEY. How many legislators belong to Chiefs for Change? Change to what? communism...

Money has nothing to do with learning. Every good teacher know that once you find what interests a child you can teach them anything. Socio-economic station has no affect on intelligence. The indoctrination in today's schooling is to train workers for government sanctioned jobs. Hunger Games anyone? Or better yet, watch Continuum where the resistance are traitors now called domestic terrorists (those who want freedom), they are hunted by the protectors (the big govt guys). This is called conditioning.

What happens to kids who learn that: communism is good, whites hate blacks, Hispanics are dirt, Christians and Jew are should be killed, Humans are the enemies of the earth, sex often is good, drugs are fine, and who needs the truth...

THEY BECOME LEGISLATORS.

Read the article below then read the link of Aspen Institute at the end of the article.

Remember the Aspen Institute trains our elected officials.

They learn:

- Debt is good
- The value of divide and conquer, redistribution of wealth
- Regionalism and PPP
- Oil and gas are bad, sustainability is good
- Food, medicine can only be controlled by the fed govt, if you are sick or too old, you lose.
- Bad rich must pay more

The Frankfurt School: Conspiracy to Corrupt

Timothy Matthews Catholic Insight March 2009
<http://www.freerepublic.com/focus/f-news/2216734/posts>

Western civilization at the present day is passing through a crisis which is essentially different from anything that has been previously experienced. Other societies in the past have changed their social institutions or their religious beliefs under the influence of external forces or the slow development of internal growth. But none, like our own, has ever consciously faced the prospect of a fundamental alteration of the beliefs and institutions on which the whole fabric of social life rests ... Civilization is being uprooted from its foundations in nature and tradition and is being reconstituted in a new organisation which is as artificial and mechanical as a modern factory.

Christopher Dawson. Enquiries into Religion and Culture, p. 259.

Most of Satan's work in the world he takes care to keep hidden. But two small shafts of light have been thrown onto his work for me just recently. The first, a short article in the Association of Catholic Women's ACW Review; the second, a remark (which at first surprised me) from a priest in Russia who claimed that we now, in the West, live in a Communist society. These shafts of light help, especially, to explain the onslaught of officialdom which in many countries worldwide has so successfully been removing the rights of parents to be the primary educators and protectors of their children.

The ACW Review examined the corrosive work of the Frankfurt School - a group of German-American scholars who developed highly provocative and original perspectives on contemporary society and culture, drawing on Hegel, Marx, Nietzsche, Freud, and Weber. Not that their idea of a cultural revolution was particularly new. Until now, wrote Joseph, Comte de Maistre (1753-1821) who for fifteen years was a Freemason, nations were killed by conquest, that is by invasion: But here an important question arises; can a nation not die on its own soil, without resettlement or invasion, by allowing the flies of decomposition to corrupt to the very core those original and constituent principles which make it what it is.'

What was the Frankfurt School? Well, in the days following the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia, it was believed that workers revolution would sweep into Europe and, eventually, into the United States. But it did not do so.

Towards the end of 1922 the Communist International (Comintern) began to consider what were the reasons. On Lenin's initiative a meeting was organised at the Marx-Engels Institute in Moscow.

The aim of the meeting was to clarify the concept of, and give concrete effect to, a Marxist cultural revolution. Amongst those present were Georg Lukacs (a Hungarian aristocrat, son of a banker, who had become a Communist during World War I ; a good Marxist theoretician he developed the idea of Revolution and Eros - sexual instinct used as an instrument of destruction) and Willi Munzenberg (whose proposed solution was to organise the intellectuals and use them to make Western civilisation stink. Only then, after they have corrupted all its values and made life impossible, can we impose the dictatorship of the proletariat) It was, said Ralph de Toledano (1916-2007) the conservative author and co-founder of the National Review, a meeting perhaps more harmful to Western civilization than the Bolshevik Revolution itself.'

Lenin died in 1924. By this time, however, Stalin was beginning to look on Munzenberg, Lukacs and like-thinkers as revisionists. In June 1940, Mnzenberg fled to the south of France where, on Stalin's orders, a NKVD assassination squad caught up with him and hanged him from a tree.

In the summer of 1924, after being attacked for his writings by the 5th Comintern Congress, Lukacs moved to Germany, where he chaired the first meeting of a group of Communist-oriented sociologists, a gathering that was to lead to the foundation of the Frankfurt School.

This School (designed to put flesh on their revolutionary programme) was started at the University of Frankfurt in the Institut fr Sozialforschung. To begin with school and institute were indistinguishable. In 1923 the Institute was officially established, and funded by Felix Weil (1898-1975). Weil was born in Argentina and at the age of nine was sent to attend school in Germany. He attended the universities in Tbingen and Frankfurt, where he graduated with a doctoral degree in political science. While at these universities he became increasingly interested in socialism and Marxism. According to the intellectual historian Martin Jay, the topic of his dissertation was the practical problems of implementing socialism.'

Carl Grnberg, the Institutes director from 1923-1929, was an avowed Marxist, although the Institute did not have any official party affiliations. But in 1930 Max Horkheimer assumed control and he believed that Marx's theory should be the basis of the Institutes research. When Hitler came to power, the Institut was closed and its members, by various routes, fled to the United States and migrated to major US universities Columbia, Princeton, Brandeis, and California at Berkeley.

The School included among its members the 1960s guru of the New Left Herbert Marcuse (denounced by Pope Paul VI for his theory of liberation which opens the way for license cloaked as liberty), Max Horkheimer, Theodor Adorno, the popular writer Erich Fromm, Leo Lowenthal, and Jurgen Habermas - possibly the Schools most influential representative.

Basically, the Frankfurt School believed that as long as an individual had the belief - or even the hope of belief - that his divine gift of reason could solve the problems facing society, then that society would never reach the state of hopelessness and alienation that they considered necessary to provoke socialist revolution. Their task, therefore, was as swiftly as possible to undermine the Judaeo-Christian legacy. To do this they called for the most negative destructive criticism possible of every sphere of life

John F. Kennedy:

"Today, we need a nation of Minutemen, citizens who are not only prepared to take arms, but citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as the basic purpose of their daily life."

How do we know they lie? They tell us:

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, The New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years. It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subjected to the lights of publicity during those years..." David Rockefeller, member of CFR which would be designed to de-stabilize society and bring down what they saw as the oppressive order. Their policies, they hoped, would spread like a virus continuing the work of the Western Marxists by other means as one of their members noted.

To further the advance of their quiet cultural revolution - but giving us no ideas about their plans for the future - the School recommended (among other things):

1. The creation of racism offenses.
2. Continual change to create confusion
3. The teaching of sex and homosexuality to children
4. The undermining of schools and teachers authority
5. Huge immigration to destroy identity.
6. The promotion of excessive drinking
7. Emptying of churches
8. An unreliable legal system with bias against victims of crime
9. Dependency on the state or state benefits
10. Control and dumbing down of media
11. Encouraging the breakdown of the family

One of the main ideas of the Frankfurt School was to exploit Freud's idea of pansexualism - the search for pleasure, the exploitation of the differences between the sexes, the overthrowing of traditional relationships between men and women. To further their aims they would:

attack the authority of the father, deny the specific roles of father and mother, and wrest away from families their rights as primary educators of their children.
abolish differences in the education of boys and girls abolish all forms of male dominance - hence the presence of women in the armed forces declare women to be an oppressed class and men as oppressors Munzenberg summed up the Frankfurt Schools long-term operation thus:
We will make the West so corrupt that it stinks.'

The School believed there were two types of revolution: (a) political and (b) cultural. Cultural revolution demolishes from within. Modern forms of subjection are marked by mildness. They saw it as a long-term project and kept their sights clearly focused on the family, education, media, sex and popular culture.

The Family

The Schools Critical Theory preached that the authoritarian personality is a product of the patriarchal family - an idea directly linked to Engels Origins of the Family, Private Property and the State, which promoted matriarchy. Already Karl Marx had written, in the Communist Manifesto, about the radical notion of a community of women and in The German Ideology of 1845, written disparagingly about the idea of the family as the basic unit of society. This was one of the basic tenets of the Critical Theory : the necessity of breaking down the contemporary family. The Institute scholars preached that Even a partial breakdown of parental authority in the family might tend to increase the readiness of a coming generation to accept social change.

Following Karl Marx, the School stressed how the authoritarian personality is a product of the patriarchal family it was Marx who wrote so disparagingly about the idea of the family being the basic unit of society. All this prepared the way for the warfare against the masculine gender

...a system of government where the least capable to lead are elected by the least capable of producing, and where the members of society least likely to sustain themselves or succeed, are rewarded with goods and services paid for by the promoted by Marcuse under the guise of women's liberation and by the New Left movement in the 1960s.

They proposed transforming our culture into a female-dominated one. In 1933, Wilhelm Reich, one of their members, wrote in The Mass Psychology of Fascism that matriarchy was the only genuine family type of natural society. Eric Fromm was also an active advocate of matriarchal theory. Masculinity and femininity, he claimed, were not reflections of essential sexual differences, as the Romantics had thought but were derived instead from differences in life functions, which were in part socially determined. His dogma was the precedent for the radical feminist pronouncements that, today, appear in nearly every major newspaper and television programme.

The revolutionaries knew exactly what they wanted to do and how to do it. They have succeeded.
Education

Lord Bertrand Russell joined with the Frankfurt School in their effort at mass social engineering and spilled the beans in his 1951 book, The Impact of Science on Society. He wrote: 'Physiology and psychology afford fields for scientific technique which still await development.' The importance of mass psychology has been enormously increased by the growth of modern methods of propaganda. Of these the most influential is what is called education. The social psychologists of the future will have a number of classes of school children on whom they will try different methods of producing an unshakable conviction that snow is black. Various results will soon be arrived at. First, that the influence of home is obstructive. Second, that not much can be done unless indoctrination begins before the age of ten. Third, that verses set to music and repeatedly intoned are very effective. Fourth, that the opinion that snow is white must be held to show a morbid taste for eccentricity. But I anticipate. It is for future scientists to make these maxims precise and discover exactly how much it costs per head to make children believe that snow is black, and how much less it would cost to make them believe it is dark gray. When the technique has been perfected, every government that has been in charge of education for a generation will be able to control its subjects securely without the need of armies or policemen.

Writing in 1992 in Fidelio Magazine, [The Frankfurt School and Political Correctness] Michael Minnicino observed how the heirs of Marcuse and Adorno now completely dominate the universities, teaching their own students to replace reason with Politically Correct ritual exercises. There are very few theoretical books on arts, letters, or language published today in the United States or Europe which do not openly acknowledge their debt to the Frankfurt School. The witchhunt on today's campuses is merely the implementation of Marcuse's concept of repressive toleration-tolerance for movements from the left, but intolerance for movements from the right-enforced by the students of the Frankfurt School.

Drugs

Dr. Timothy Leary gave us another glimpse into the mind of the Frankfurt School in his account of the work of the Harvard University Psychedelic Drug Project, Flashback. He quoted a conversation that he had with Aldous Huxley: 'These brain drugs, mass produced in the laboratories, will bring about vast changes in society. This will happen with or without you or me. All we can do is spread the word. The obstacle to this evolution, Timothy, is the Bible. Leary then went on: We had run up against the Judeo-Christian commitment to one God, one religion, one reality, that has confiscated wealth of a diminishing number of producers.

"Under my plan, your energy prices will necessarily sky rocket... You can open a coal plant but it will go bankrupt. Create the Crisis...."

cursed Europe for centuries and America since our founding days. Drugs that open the mind to multiple realities inevitably lead to a polytheistic view of the universe. We sensed that the time for a new humanist religion based on intelligence, good-natured pluralism and scientific paganism had arrived.

One of the directors of the Authoritarian Personality project, R. Nevitt Sanford, played a pivotal role in the usage of psychedelic drugs. In 1965, he wrote in a book issued by the publishing arm of the UKs Tavistock Institute: The nation, seems to be fascinated by our 40,000 or so drug addicts who are seen as alarmingly wayward people who must be curbed at all costs by expensive police activity. Only an uneasy Puritanism could support the practice of focusing on the drug addicts (rather than our 5 million alcoholics) and treating them as a police problem instead of a medical one, while suppressing harmless drugs such as marijuana and peyote along with the dangerous ones. The leading propagandists of today's drug lobby base their argument for legalization on the same scientific quackery spelled out all those years ago by Dr. Sanford.

Such propagandists include the multi-billionaire atheist George Soros who chose, as one of his first domestic programs, to fund efforts to challenge the efficacy of Americas $37-billion-a-year war on drugs. The Soros-backed Lindesmith Center serves as a leading voice for Americans who want to decriminalize drug use. Soros is the Daddy Warbucks of drug legalization, claimed Joseph Califano Jr. of Columbia Universitys National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse (The Nation, Sep 2, 1999).
Music, Television and Popular Culture

Adorno was to become head of a music studies unit, where in his Theory of Modern Music he promoted the prospect of unleashing atonal and other popular music as a weapon to destroy society, degenerate forms of music to promote mental illness. He said the US could be brought to its knees by the use of radio and television to promote a culture of pessimism and despair - by the late 1930s he (together with Horkheimer) had migrated to Hollywood.

The expansion of violent video-games also well supported the Schools aims.

Sex

In his book The Closing of the American Mind, Alan Bloom observed how Marcuse appealed to university students in the sixties with a combination of Marx and Freud. In Eros and Civilization and One Dimensional Man Marcuse promised that the overcoming of capitalism and its false consciousness will result in a society where the greatest satisfactions are sexual. Rock music touches the same chord in the young. Free sexual expression, anarchism, mining of the irrational unconscious and giving it free rein are what they have in common.'

The Media

The modern media - not least Arthur Punch Sulzberger Jnr., who took charge of the New York Times in 1992 - drew greatly on the Frankfurt Schools study The Authoritarian Personality. (New York: Harper, 1950). In his book Arrogance, (Warner Books, 1993) former CBS News reporter Bernard Goldberg noted of Sulzberger that he still believes in all those old sixties notions about liberation and changing the world man . . . In fact, the Punch years have been a steady march down PC Boulevard, with a newsroom fiercely dedicated to every brand of diversity except the intellectual kind.'

In 1953 the Institute moved back to the University of Frankfurt. Adorno died in 1955 and Horkheimer in 1973. The Institute of Social Research continued, but what was known as the Frankfurt School did not. The cultural Marxism that has since taken hold of our schools and universities - that political correctness, which has been destroying our family bonds, our religious tradition and our entire culture - sprang from the Frankfurt School.

It was these intellectual Marxists who, later, during the anti-Vietnam demonstrations, coined the phrase, make love, not war; it was these intellectuals who promoted the dialectic of negative criticism; it was these theoreticians who dreamed of a utopia where their rules governed. It was their concept that led to the current fad for the rewriting of history, and to the vogue for deconstruction. Their mantras: sexual differences are a contract; if it feels good, do it; do your own thing.'

In an address at the US Naval Academy in August 1999, Dr Gerald L. Atkinson, CDR USN (Ret), gave a background briefing on the Frankfurt School, reminding his audience that it was the foot soldiers of the Frankfurt School who introduced the sensitivity training techniques used in public schools over the past 30 years (and now employed by the US military to educate the troops about sexual harassment). During sensitivity training teachers were told not to teach but to facilitate. Classrooms became centres of self-examination where children talked about their own subjective feelings. This technique was designed to convince children they were the sole authority in their own lives.

Atkinson continued: The Authoritarian personality, studied by the Frankfurt School in the 1940s and 1950s in America, prepared the way for the subsequent warfare against the masculine gender promoted by Herbert Marcuse and his band of social revolutionaries under the guise of women's liberation and the New Left movement in the 1960s. The evidence that psychological techniques for changing personality is intended to mean emasculation of the American male is provided by Abraham Maslow, founder of Third Force Humanist Psychology and a promoter of the psychotherapeutic classroom, who wrote that, ... the next step in personal evolution is a transcendence of both masculinity and femininity to general humanness.

On April 17th, 1962, Maslow gave a lecture to a group of nuns at Sacred Heart, a Catholic women's college in Massachusetts. He noted in a diary entry how the talk had been very successful, but he found that very fact troubling. They shouldn't applaud me, he wrote, they should attack. If they were fully aware of what I was doing, they would [attack] (Journals, p. 157).

The Network

In her booklet Sex & Social Engineering (Family Education Trust 1994) Valerie Riches observed how in the late 1960s and early 1970s, there were intensive parliamentary campaigns taking place emanating from a number of organisations in the field of birth control (i.e., contraception, abortion, sterilisation). From an analysis of their annual reports, it became apparent that a comparatively small number of people were involved to a surprising degree in an array of pressure groups. This network was not only linked by personnel, but by funds, ideology and sometimes addresses: it was also backed by vested interests and supported by grants in some cases by government departments. At the heart of the network was the Family Planning Association (FPA) with its own collection of offshoots. What we unearthed was a power structure with enormous influence.

Deeper investigation revealed that the network, in fact extended further afield, into eugenics, population control, birth control, sexual and family law reforms, sex and health education. Its tentacles reached out to publishing houses, medical, educational and research establishments, women's organisations and marriage guidance anywhere where influence could be exerted. It appeared to have great influence over the media, and over permanent officials in relevant government departments, out of all proportion to the numbers involved.

During our investigations, a speaker at a Sex Education Symposium in Liverpool outlined tactics of sex education saying: if we do not get into sex education, children will simply follow the mores of their parents. The fact that sex education was to be the vehicle for peddlers of secular humanism soon became apparent.

However, at that time the power of the network and the full implications of its activities were not fully understood. It was thought that the situation was confined to Britain. The international implications had not been grasped.

Soon after, a little book was published with the intriguing title The Men Behind Hitler A German Warning to the World. Its thesis was that the eugenics movement, which had gained popularity early in the twentieth century, had gone underground following the holocaust in Nazi Germany, but was still active and functioning through organizations promoting abortion, euthanasia, sterilization, mental health, etc. The author urged the reader to look at his home country and neighbouring countries, for he would surely find that members and committees of these organizations would cross-check to a remarkable extent.

Other books and papers from independent sources later confirmed this situation. . . . A remarkable book was also published in America which documented the activities of the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS). It was entitled The SIECUS Circle A Humanist Revolution. SIECUS was set up in 1964 and lost no time in engaging in a programme of social engineering by means of sex education in the schools. Its first executive director was Mary Calderone, who was also closely linked to Planned Parenthood, the American equivalent of the British FPA. According to The SIECUS Circle, Calderone supported sentiments and theories put forward by Rudolph Dreikurs, a humanist, such as:

merging or reversing the sexes or sex roles;
liberating children from their families;
abolishing the family as we know it

In their book Mind Siege, (Thomas Nelson, 2000) Tim LaHaye and David A. Noebel confirmed Richess findings of an international network. The leading authorities of Secular Humanism may be pictured as the starting lineup of a baseball team: pitching is John Dewey; catching is Isaac Asimov; first base is Paul Kurtz; second base is Corliss Lamont; third base is Bertrand Russell; shortstop is Julian Huxley; left fielder is Richard Dawkins; center fielder is Margaret Sanger; right fielder is Carl Rogers; manager is Christianity is for losers Ted Turner; designated hitter is Mary Calderone; utility players include the hundreds listed in the back of Humanist Manifesto I and II, including Eugenia C. In the grandstands sit the sponsoring or sustaining organizations, such as the . . . the Frankfurt School; the left wing of the Democratic Party; the Democratic Socialists of America; Harvard University; Yale University; University of Minnesota; University of California (Berkeley); and two thousand other colleges and universities.

A practical example of how the tidal wave of Maslow-think is engulfing English schools was revealed in an article in the British Nat. assoc. of Catholic Families (NACF) Catholic Family newspaper (August 2000), where James Caffrey warned about the Citizenship (PSHE) programme which was shortly to be drafted into the National Curriculum. We need to look carefully at the vocabulary used in this new subject, he wrote, and, more importantly, discover the philosophical basis on which it is founded. The clues to this can be found in the word choice which occurs frequently in the Citizenship documentation and the great emphasis placed on pupils discussing and clarifying their own views, values and choices about any given issue. This is nothing other than the concept known as Values Clarification - a concept anathema to Catholicism, or indeed, to Judaism and Islam.

This concept was pioneered in California in the 1960s by psychologists William Coulson, Carl Rogers and Abraham Maslow. It was based on humanistic psychology, in which patients were regarded as the sole judge of their actions and moral behaviour. Having pioneered the technique of Values Clarification the psychologists introduced it into schools and other institutions such as convents and seminaries - with disastrous results. Convents emptied, religious lost their vocations and there was wholesale loss of belief in God. Why? Because Catholic institutions are founded on absolute beliefs in, for example, the Creed and the Ten Commandments. Values Clarification supposes a moral relativism in which there is no absolute right or wrong and no dependence on God.

This same system is to be introduced to the vulnerable minds of infants, juniors and adolescents in the years 2000+. The underlying philosophy of Values Clarification holds that for teachers to promote virtues such as honesty, justice or chastity constitutes indoctrination of children and violates their moral freedom. It is urged that children should be free to choose their own values; the teacher must merely facilitate and must avoid all moralising or criticising. As a barrister commented recently on worrying trends in Australian education, The core theme of values clarification is that there are no right or wrong values. Values education does not seek to identify and transmit right values, teaching of the Church, especially the papal encyclical Evangelium Vitae.

In the absence of clear moral guidance, children naturally make choices based on feelings. Powerful peer pressure, freed from the values which stem from a divine source, ensure that shared values sink to the lowest common denominator. References to environmental sustainability lead to a mindset where anti-life arguments for population control are presented as being both responsible and desirable. Similarly, informed choices about health and lifestyles are euphemisms for attitudes antithetical to Christian views on motherhood, fatherhood, the sacrament of marriage and family life. Values Clarification is covert and dangerous. It underpins the entire rationale of Citizenship (PSHE) and is to be introduced by statute into the UK soon. It will give young people secular values and imbue them with the attitude that they alone hold ultimate authority and judgement about their lives. No Catholic school can include this new subject as formulated in the Curriculum 2000 document within its current curriculum provision. Dr. William Coulson recognised the psychological damage Rogers technique

How many of the school textbook companies are owned by the Saudis?

During a recent speech in Poland.....

Brzezinski concluded that "persistent and highly motivated populist resistance of politically awakened and historically resentful peoples to external control has proven to be increasingly difficult to suppress."

Victory is our only option inflicted on youngsters and rejected it, devoting his life to exposing its dangers.

Should those in authority in Catholic education not do likewise, as Citizenship makes its deadly approach?

If we allow their subversion of values and interests to continue, we will, in future generations, lose all that our ancestors suffered and died for. We are forewarned, says Atkinson. A reading of history (it is all in mainstream historical accounts) tells us that we are about to lose the most precious thing we have our individual freedoms.

What we are at present experiencing,' writes Philip Trower in a letter to the author, is a blend of two schools of thought; the Frankfurt School and the liberal tradition going back to the 18th century Enlightenment. The Frankfurt School has of course its remote origins in the 18th century Enlightenment. But like Lenins Marxism it is a breakaway movement. The immediate aims of both classical liberalism and the Frankfurt School have been in the main the same (vide your eleven points above) but the final end is different. For liberals they lead to improving and perfecting western culture, for the Frankfurt School they bring about its destruction.

Unlike hard-line Marxists, the Frankfurt School do not make any plans for the future. (But) the Frankfurt School seems to be more far-sighted than our classical liberals and secularists. At least they see the moral deviations they promote will in the end make social life impossible or intolerable. But this leaves a big question mark over what a future conducted by them would be like.'

Now read the modern day Frankfurt School called the Aspen Institute.

The Florida Republic Congress is become increasingly socialist and many refuse to follow the Constitution. Instead they are following the special interest and may no longer have the ability to protect Florida citizens. Time to look at candidates not party.

The only way to make a change is to do something different.

FL first candidate to step up is Adrian Wylie who stated, "

"I have read and I fully support the ten affirmations. I have signed, and I solemnly swear to abide by, the ten promises of the Tenth Amendment Pledge. "

FL: State Sen. Alan Hays, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on General Government, says he was "astounded" to learn how much of Florida is owned by government agencies.

He has introduced legislation that he said should start a conversation about how much is needed.

Sen. Alan Hays, chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee on General Government, has introduced SB 584. The bill allows state agencies and local governments to buy conservation land only if an equal amount of property not being held in conservation is returned or sold to the private sector.

Please call Sen Hays and support this important Bill # SB 584. Then call your Senator and tell them to support the Bill.

Economic Terrorism

Just listen to Obama's State of the Union and you will get a clear understanding of economic terrorism. The entire speech all he wants to do is increase government regulations which kills jobs. He also told people they should aspire to get into the middle class. American exceptionalism brings you into the upper class. All this speech did was to reaffirm his agenda of bigger government meaning less freedom.

PPP- Public Private Partnerships Kudos to AFP look in your state

Last week, AFP jointly released a report that it commissioned by Integrity Florida titled <http://www.integrityfl.org/wp-content/uploads/2013/02/Enterprise-Florida-Economic-Development-or-Corporate-Welfare-FINAL.pdf>

This report is a scathing look into the failings of Enterprise Florida to meet its stated goals, the lack of transparency and accountability of the tax payer funded organization, the use of public dollars to pick winners and losers in the marketplace, and at least the appearance of pay-to-play cronyism. We don't blame the companies -- we blame the policy that allows and actually encourages this to happen.

Government shouldn't use taxpayer dollars to favor one company or one industry over another. Government shouldn't pick winners and losers and should let the free market and consumers decide what businesses should flourish and come here.

PPP are demanded in Agenda 21.

Nullification is not just limited to the 2nd Amendment.

Brace for obamacare Death Panels: British Hospital Patients Dying in Doves From Lack of Care

The 31-month, $20-million investigation into the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust, led by barrister Robert Francis, found that "between 2005 and 2009, up to 1,200 patients died unnecessarily and many more were 'failed by a system which ignored the warning signs and put corporate self-interest and cost control ahead of patients and their safety,'" according to the Telegraph. Francis issued a report on the investigation February 6. The report found that over 3000 have died unnecessarily between 2010-2012.

EDUCATION

Since you just read the first article and clicked on the links, the following articles should make sense. Once you understand the motivation behind Agenda 21, you can find and eliminate their indoctrination.

Oral sex taught in school.

Muslim Indoctrination in Public Schools.

Interestingly enough, in recent years American public schools have been indoctrinated with the Muslim religion. Studies have shown over 500 historical errors in public school textbooks, giving an Islamic slant to our youth.

www.newswithviews.com/Bradlee/dean105.htm

CHOICE is not the answer, only changing the curriculum will bring back American.

Choices anyone, how many choice does your child need to learn Communism and Islam?

NC has the right idea: HB588/ The Founding Principles Act.

Get your child out of the communist gov't school. HOME SCHOOL. Demand America be returned to school. Common Core = Communism.

If you care at all about education, buy Charlotte Iserbyt's, Deliberate Dumbing Down and see this video The Miseducation of America

Communists also outlaw private and homeschools.

I will bet you that there will be a policy that all private and home schoolers follow common core....

So while you are fighting for choice, ask yourself, who's choice?

If you do not change the curriculum, does it matter where your child learns to be a communist?

If you print the truth they will read it. Too many people are hungry for truth, you can provide it.

The youth can become the reporters, learn graphics, get distribution. Ask them what they want to read...You will wind up teaching them a lot of truth and they will learn to read.
