Some of the issues in this letter are repetitive. That is for a reason, it takes the average person 10 times to see something before they pay attention. It is also important for you to understand that

- everything is connected
- everything happens for a reason
- nothing is random
- everything is planned

- EVERYTHING IS A LIE

DEADLINE - DC March for Jobs, Monday, July 15, 2013

Hello Americans:

This week was a clear example of what happens when school fails.

Millions of Americans are watching the Zimmerman trial. They heard testimony from Rachel Jeantel.

During this testimony, Jeantel stated, "No I can't read. No sir, I can't read and write cursive."

Jeantel would have been in school during the Clinton/Bush era when Clinton used Marc Tucker's Dear Hillary letter (http://www.eagleforum.org/educate/marc_tucker/) as the template to change American education from fact based to value based model of school to work. As a result a variety of the same programs like: Goals 2000, School to Work, Sustainable America, No Child Left Behind and now Common Core Standards were instituted without a pilot test model. Would you drive a car without a test drive, why change school programs without a test model?

Every 4 years, the name of school programs were changed and a new program was offered in definite need of more money from taxpayers. Every program has created minimal to poor results. Why? No one connects the dots and realized these programs are the same. The names have been changed but the programs (curricula) are the same. All are focused on one goal: Dumbing Americans dependent on government. The goal of mediocrity, has been in place for decades. Rachel Jeantel is a result of that program. She can not read. She can not read or write cursive.

Florida has Jeb Bush to thank for wasting about $150,000 (per student) on useless programs that produce human capital (the name used to describe students) who can not read or write. Now Jeb is back with his minions like Tony Bennett (kicked out of Indiana) and Foundation for Excellence in Education pushing Common Core with more of the same, at what cost?

CCS Training not learning, will produce more Rachel Jeantel's who can't read and can't read and write cursive. Our tax dollars are being used so the Bush clan, Neil and Jeb Bush, Gates, Murdock and all of their foreign investor friends will make billions at the expense of our children. The purpose of CCS is simple, money power, control by the Globalists promoting the NWO for decades.

Don't think this is a Black/White Crisis restricted to the poor communities like your legislators/DOE's contend. Bad school programs hit ALL AMERICAN human capital regardless of color. Bad schooling is a direct result of the content of the socialist school programs we have suffered from for years. Just listen to some of the answers from Miss Teen USA and from Conservative pundit Caleb Bonham who this week conducted the first ever "Obama Beauty Pageant" on the streets of Denver – but it's not what it sounds like.

Contestants in the "pageant," who were all Obama supporters, were asked to answer two pageant questions that resulted in a pair of infamous responses from Miss South Carolina and Miss Utah.

Note: Who they support makes no difference.

<http://www.theblaze.com/stories/2013/06/27/obama-supporters-asked-same-questions-that-resulted-in-infamous-beauty-pageant-answers-hilarity-ensues/>

While you are busy doing whatever necessary to keep your family happy and healthy the DOEd is busy figuring out how to convince you that they know best in rearing your human capital. They will create more useful idiots http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Useful_idiot who will become our legislators and will pass more bills without reading them (maybe they can't read either) using fuzzy math learned in government training facilities. I can't even call them schools because little learning takes place. Training is for animals. Oh, I forgot, that is why they call us "Sheeple". Humans are only as good as their ability to work for the state, hence students are Human Capital and the people trained like animals are called SHEEPL. <http://rense.com/general33/sheeple.htm>

We look at Jeantel and every talking head chimes in and makes excuses for her behavior claiming that is her culture. NO IT IS NOT. Culture is learned behavior. For a quick definition of culture, mores, values and norms see this short video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UNAOheU36ws>

This "culture" is created by school programs and is racially charged to continue to promote divide and conquer. By not requiring goals, consequences and demanding excellence school programs are now destroy American exceptionalism by elimination of vocabulary, spelling, grammar, reading, cursive, civics, literature math. These classes are replaced with social programs like - How to have sex, do drugs, be LGBT or become a bully.

Remember children have a need to be different, to succeed in something just special to them. They want to be different so they will tattoo, pierce, smoke, drink etc. So the minute you tell them NO, they will find a way to do it. Then taxpayers are told we have more drugs problems, seex problems, bullying problems so we need more money and another layer of bureaucracy to "fix" it.

In reality, if we would stop social programs in school, and teach that actions have consequences, people would learn to make the right choices. But then we would eliminate a government program necessary to control humans.

The Rachel Jeantel's of America are the result of bad school curricula. Yet we are taught to blame everything except the problem- the content of inferior school curricula and the Pavlov/Skinner method of training. Human capital are trained. Instead of animal training like: sit you will get a biscuit, they are trained to get an award for showing up. So they are trained to show up; not learn.

Why are Human Capital no longer taught and are trained? Fact: the difference between animals and humans is the human ability to think and to reason. Therefore, school must train Human Capital not to think, just push an APP. Everyone must be the same, otherwise how will the government control millions of people? Don't think kid, just push an APP and you will get a degree in technology. You can't think or you might become competition and that is unsustainable.

Human capital are told, "No need to know facts, if you need answers, just push an AP use a calculator." The government will give you your answers, not you or family. After all what do your parents know? Your parents are the evil polluters of the earth.

The problem is not a racial issue as you are being led to believe. This is a concerted effort to destroy Americans, diminish family, God and Country by using our children. Just open your eyes and ears and listen. O'Reilly, Hannity, Beck, Leno, Watters and all other journalists who do man in the street segments asking questions like, "Where is America on a map?" never follow up to a Don't know answer with the question, "Did you learn about America in school?"

Why? because the answer is "NO, I was not taught in school." They might have to ask, what did you learn in school?

When American history is started at 1865, how does Human Capital learn about America? They don't. All of those intellectual talking heads state, "Knowing America is not necessary to be trained for a job, so why junk up the human capital's brain with those irrelevant facts about Freedom, Liberty, God and Country."

So we blame everything else because it is too hard to look at the actual curricula and texts. We have allowed Progressives free reign and all they have done is reign in any innovative or creative thought. Why? To eliminate competition, ya think? Think Bill Gates will bow to another Bill Gates? Think again. The last thing people in control want to do is lose control.

We say we want to take America back. Well how about starting at the school? Here is a challenge to every legislator promoting the new untested, unproven fad for the destruction of America called Common Core Standards. Since the program and standards are not ready, how about we do something different? Something Americans have never done in the schools before, something different instead of the same old, same old like using another untested program which cost more and may fail causing more division.

Let's take 100 of the worst schools in each state. 50 will get CCS, 50 will get a traditional America education of basic skills learned in the 50's before any changes were made and America was in the top 10. Then let's evaluate by giving all students the same test of basic questions. Can they: read, write, spell, evaluate, are grammatically correct, prioritize, know English, America, civics and can they do math. Are they cognizant of World dynamics and can they function in a global society? We will then have a clear comparison and we can end all the fighting.

To all of the people against Common Core, just saying no to CCS is not the solution, because changing an operating system (CCS) without changing the content changes nothing. Having an alternative does. Our demand for every legislative session should be: Stop Common Core, we want a pilot program. 50 schools CCS and 50 schools Traditional America with a comparison.

FYI:

- Our Founding Fathers had an IQ upwards from 125.
- In the 1970's the average American IQ was 100-110.
- Today the average IQ is 90-100.
- Mission accomplished

If we want to make a difference, we must do things differently. When was the last time you heard any official say - Think outside the box? Wonder why? Could it be that if you think, you might not need an APP?

I will not comply. Will you?

ENVIRONMENTAL TERRORISM

OBAMA HAS DECLARED WAR ON COAL...

So when President Obama recently announced his plan to bypass Congress and use his executive power to “fight climate change,” targeting the coal-energy industry, Monckton responded.

Some of what Obama said was simply copied from Al Gore’s writings on global warming, he said, and virtually everything was incomplete, misleading - or wrong.

Send the press release on spaceandscience.net to your Senator and Representatives. Obama said he will bypass Congress. What will they do?

EQUITY: Property Rights

When going to a planning meeting learn by past mistakes remember:

- 1. Sustainable Developments (SD) are not proven to do anything except cost money by reducing taxable build-able land. Make them find 1 place running in the black.
- 2. Be overly expensive with products that do not work and only benefit friends of the govt eliminating competition.
- 3. Every SD builds a democratic base. Look at your voter map.
- 4. People not from your area will determine what people from you area should do.
- 5. Restricting consumption means restricting your consumption not theirs.
- 8. Regionalism eliminates local county govt and private property. Once you start taking grants you will not be able to breathe without approval from the FEDS.

UN Biodiversity Assessment Report

EDUCATION

by Charlotte Iserbyt:

I believe what we are looking at (so-called Common Core) is Robert Muller's World Core Curriculum. Which, of course, is basically a U.S.A./UNESCO Marxist curriculum. Robert Muller, the author of New Genesis: Shaping a Global Spirituality, was a former Assistant Secretary General of the United Nations. Out of 20 education advisors to UNESCO in 1971, 19 came from Communist Eastern Europe and Communist Soviet Union. Why do our good people keep researching the so-called standards? Do we not realize that the very fact we are studying the standards equals acceptance by us that the federal government has a right to impose standards on us? Rather than spending days/months/years on end researching whether standards are good or bad, we should be saying "the standards are illegal/unconstitutional, even if they teach the Ten Commandments."

Do we really believe the standards are NOT federally funded? Are we not aware that the Council of Chief State School Officers, primary developer of standards, has been receiving grants from my old office in the U.S. Dept. of Education for curriculum and textbook development for many years?

As far as the dumbing down nature of the Communist Core is concerned, read this from email sent out recently to my lists:

I have a large file related to Muller's Common Core Curriculum implemented in the Eugene School District 4J, 200 North Monroe, Eugene, Oregon 97402, July, 1989, Margaret Nichols, Superintendent. This curriculum significantly reduces academic skills taught. Here is a quote from School District's report on this curriculum:

"With the former curriculum, elementary students were expected to master 2,175 separate bits of information that included skills, concepts and content organized within eight discrete disciplines. The new K-5 Education 2000 Curriculum requires mastery of only six major themes, 60 concepts and 132 core skills organized within three curriculum strands. This revision greatly reduces the fragmented nature of the former curriculum and significantly decreases the number of specific requirements to approximately one-tenth the original number."

And, take a look at these quotes regarding the partially federally-funded Northwest Regional Laboratory's "Goals Collection" taken from "the deliberate dumbing down of America", pp. 167-168 (free download at <http://www.deliberatedumbingdown.com>):

Goals states under Content that there is to be none because [E]stablished facts change, causing many fact-bound curricula to become obsolete during the approximately five-year lag between their inception and their widespread dissemination, and social mobility and cultural pluralism make it increasingly difficult to identify the important facts.

COURSE GOALS COLLECTION WAS COMPLETED IN 1980-81 BY THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF Education's Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory in Portland, Oregon, having been initiated in 1971 as the Tri-County Course Goal Project. According to the price list for the collection, 70,000 copies were in use throughout the United States in 1981. Descriptors within the Collection state:

- The collection consists of fourteen volumes with 15,000 goals covering every major subject taught in the public schools from K-12.
- Course Goals Collection, based on the theoretical work of Bloom, Tyler, Gagne, Piaget, Krathwohl, Walbesser, Mager, and others, blatantly recommends the use of Mastery Learning when it states:
- The K-12 Goals Collection provides a resource for developing diagnostic-prescriptive Mastery Learning approaches, both programmed and teacher managed.
- This collection also advocates the use of Management by Objectives and Planning, Programming and Budgeting Systems when it asserts: Perhaps the greatest need addressed by the project is for a sound basis for accountability in education... assistance such as Planning, Program, Budget and Management systems or even general concepts such as Management by Objectives.
- The use of values clarification and behavior modification is also encouraged when the Goals Collection points out that: Value goals of two types are included: 1. those related to processes of values clarification; 2. those representing values, choices that might be fostered in the context of the discipline.

Goals states under Content that there is to be none because established facts change, causing many fact-bound curricula to become obsolete during the approximately five-year lag between their inception and their widespread dissemination, and social mobility and cultural pluralism make it increasingly difficult to identify the important facts.

The Course Goals Collection is evidence of illegal federal involvement in curriculum development. The extent of its use nationwide in 1981 is obvious since 70,000 copies were distributed and there were only approximately 16,000 school districts in the nation. Is it any wonder all states now have the same goals?

Charlotte Danielson, M.A., in the appendix to her Practitioners Implementation Handbook [series]: The Outcome-Based Curriculum, 2nd Ed. (Outcomes Associates; Princeton, N.J., 1992) entitled, "Classification System for the School Curriculum" acknowledged her use of the Course Goals Collection developed by the Tri-County Development Project. In the Introduction to Outcome-Based Education to Danielson's Handbook she inextricably connects Outcome-Based Education to Effective Schools Research when she says:

- Outcome-Based Education is a system for the organization and delivery of the instructional
- program in elementary and secondary schools which assures success for every student [emphasis in original].
- It incorporates the findings of the Effective Schools Research, linking them together into a
- comprehensive and powerful model. Educators in outcome-based schools know that if they
- organize their schools properly, and offer high-quality instruction, all students will succeed with
- no change in standards. (p. 1)

[Ed. Note: Probably the most important quote involving the above Goals Project—at least as it relates to the definition of scientific, research-based instruction—is one found in Indiana Senator Joan Gubbin's excellent report entitled Goals and Objectives: Towards a National Curriculum? prepared for the National Council on Educational Research, September 26, 1986, as part of an investigation of the NWREL Goals Project. On page 16 of her report is the following statement:

- I believe the personal valuing goals (included in the Goals Project) would be more properly
- classified as behavior modification procedures. Therefore, the Project's definition of behavior
- modification is illuminating: {Procedures used in programs of behavior modification or behavioral management are based on principles derived from scientific research (e.g., stimulus-response-reinforcement).
- Americans supporting the use of mastery learning, outcome-based education, and direct
- instruction to teach reading, take heed! When advised that such instruction is scientific
- research-based, remember the above U.S. Department of Education definition!]

God bless you all, and may you continue your wonderful work to preserve the greatest system of government known to mankind incorporated in the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights.
