

It actually understates the case, because the original $800 billion of the stimulus plan was spent in fiscal 2009, meaning Obama and the progressives spent it but the deficit gets added to Bush's total because the original budget was proposed, past and signed during his presidency (standard procedure). But when you add in the stimulus, the amount below of $4.99 trillion that Obama added to the deficit is closer to $5.8 trillion.

Keep the numbers below handy they may be useful in political discussions.
